Hello, Am I speaking to the placement officer of (college name)

We're currently running a program aimed at identifying and training talented college students, and I wanted to explore a collaboration with your institution. We're offering a 3-month internship opportunity for interested students to work as student trainers in areas such as communication, digital skills, digital marketing and soft skills,

This internship will include:

Structured training and mentorship

A certificate of completion at the end of the program

And a monthly stipend, as a token of appreciation and support

If you are interested we would share the details regarding the hiring of trainers through posters.

Would you be open to discussing this further or connecting us with students who might be interested?
