
Who Are We?

Plant Green Inertia (PGI) is the world's first experiential training company focused on practical, skill-based learning. We offer soft skill and technical skill training to help students and professionals become industry-ready. Our training covers areas such as entrepreneurship, leadership, communication, public speaking, digital marketing, and employability skills. Through experiential methods, we ensure participants gain real-world exposure and confidence. We have signed MoUs with over 25 colleges and did private projects with more than 150+ institutions, delivering customized training programs based on institutional needs. We are also a part of the Tamil Nadu Government's Naan Mudhalvan Project. In addition, we conduct placement drives to connect trained students with potential employers and facilitate their career growth. PGI aims to bridge the gap between academic learning and industry demands through hands-on, purposeful training
